Asphalt Company Has Its Own Way in New York.

OWNERS OF STANDS BLACKMAILED |

Political Phase to the Gas War Now in Progress.

TROUBLES OF TWO CHURCHES

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star. NEW YORK, May 14, 1899. As early as last September Mayor Van

Wyck claimed to have discovered a vast scheme to defraud the city, and certain persons were designated to investigate and make a report. This report, which has just been submitted, indicates that New York is absolutely in the grasp of an asphalt monopoly. An extract from the report reads

"New York has been in the grasp of the asplialt monopoly, which has been conveying vast and unreasonable profits into its treasury for many years, owing to the specifications, which contained clauses of such a character as would lead one to suspect that they had been inserted by the ring eader of this monopoly. Occasionally we find some city official or asphalt con tractor bold enough to break down these barriers. If a contractor secured a contract objections to his asphalt would be inspired, which often led to law suits insti-gated by the monopoly. We sometimes find other than monopoly contractors securing public work, and frequently the monopoly has pointed to this as open competition; but any one versed in the subject knows that they are often only masquerading for the monopoly, buying their material from it as a tribute, or, as a last compromise, when the monopoly has found them too strong to combat and not afraid, it has in-vited them to share the profits." Loot for Tammany.

While Mayor Van Wyck and his Tammany assistants are probably entitled to considerable credit for exposing this grab and suggesting remedies, nothing is said in reply to the assertion that the Tammany municipal assembly is keeping $500,000 a year out of the city treasury, made by certain city officers who have looked into the matter. Of late the question is frequently asked, who is getting the money? The asked, who is getting the money? The bulk of the business done by the local legislative body for some time past has been the passing of resolutions to permit the keeping of stands for trade purposes under the stairs of elevated railroad stations and within stoop lines. These privileges are no longer a matter of license under fixed regulations. They are now said to be political patronage of an exceedingly interesting and valuable kind. Persons interested in the matter say that many of the permits to keep news stands under the stairs of the elevated railroads are worth $1,000 or more elevated railroads are worth $1,000 or more a year. Practically nothing is paid into the city treasury for these permits. No license ordinance has been enacted since consolidation went into effect, and the ordi-nances of the former cities are still in full effect nominally, but they are not enforced. Under the old ordinance the license fee for a stand under the stairs of the elevated a stand under the stairs of the elevated road was $10 a year. There would be plenty of bidders for them at an average price of $500 a year. It is admitted in the city clerk's office that many persons holding these permits from the municipal assembly do not pay even the nominal fee of $10. They rely upon the pull that first got them the permit to save them afterward from annoyance by the police. If they pay for the valuable privilege they enjoy, the money does not go into the city treasury. It is contended by the opponents of the present system that the charter never conpresent system that the charter never con-templated that the assembly should usurp the duties of the license bureau to create for the members political patronage worth from $590,000 to $1,000,000 a year. It is im-possible to ascertain exactly how much possible to ascertain exactly now index money the city is losing by the present system, but it is generally understood around the city hall that no stand owner pays a license fee if he has enough politand keep the police from disturbing him. Politics in the Gas War.

Although the gas war has subsided into a tug of war, with steady pulling on either side, there are many rumors flying around about the wished-for results and the people and the motives behind the cuts in rates. The latest report is that it is not only a fight between men of millions, but also one between the powerful political bosses, Croker and Platt. The New Amsterdam Gas Company, with Croker and Tammany back of it, now holds the whip hand. It is selling gas publicly at 50 cents a thousand. and, it is said, making contract after con-tract with new customers, guaranteeing that for one year at least the price will not go above 75 cents a thousand. It is argued now by certain people that gas will never go back to the old price. A new incandescent, however, introduced by a company capitalized at $12,000,000, is cxpected to revolutionize the gas industry by further reducing the cost. It will enable the gas companies to fight the electric

The latest "inside" story of the gas war is that four years ago, through William Rockefeller and Russell Sage, the gas companies entered into a compact to establish a uniform price, and agreeing as to the rritory each company should have. A caring house was established, and any its to these selling less than their share. solidated began to purchase an interest in the Equitable and East River companies to freeze out Anthony N. Brady, E. C. Benediet, J. Pierpont Morgan and others. They discovered and defeated this deal. They consolidated into the New Amsterdam Company and began a war of rates. The Consolidated Gas Company then refused to make any more payments under the trust agreement. The dominant faction in New Amsterdam organized the big Electric Light and Power Company. The Rocke-fellers and John D. Crimmins devised the Astoria "grab" bill and got the republican machine behind it. The New Amsterdam appealed to Croker. The "grab" was beaten. New Amsterdam canvassers swept through the territory of the other com-panies. The Platt crowd appealed to Croker for a truce. He ordered the Consolidated Company and Platt to get rid of John D. Crimmins. They are said to have refused. The Mazet committee was appointed to bring Croker to terms. It failed. Then the Consolidated made its open cut to 65 cents. The New Amsterdam retaliated with the 50-cent cut. And so goes the story.

Societies a Danger to Churches. Ministers of both the Methodist and Presbyterian churches have been aroused concerning their auxiliary church societies by the discussion in the Newark preachers meeting the other day over the question whether Methodism is on the ebb. The debate was precipitated by the discovery that the spring reports showed among the churches in New York city. New Jersey and Philadelphia a decline of three thousand in membership and one thousand in the number of probationers. The figures had attracted the attention of some members of the Newark Preachers' Association, and their meeting was called for the special purpose of considering the subject. In the remarks of the members special emphasis was laid on the hurtful effect of the Epworth League on the Methodist Church, and, incidentally, of the Christian Endeavor Society on the Presbyterian Church. Both the Epworth League and the Christian En the Epworth League and the Christian Endeavor gather the church flocks for an hour of song and recitation and study at 6:30 o'clock in the evening. By the time the program in either is finished the hour for the evening service in the church is at hand. One minister says that the league affords all the opportunities for social re-union which the church affords, and, consequently, weakens the attendance on the part of those who otherwise would seek the church itself for acquaintance, and to see

"They don't even make for their homes," "They don't even make for their homes," another rejoins. "They bring their wheels, many of them, and go out from the league rooms for a spin. I have seen numbers of the league members on their bicycles. The practice is getting to be so universal among them that I fear the league is only fight that line fence question on his own sort of a rendezvous or assembling place for them. Another protest is that the Epworth League will in the end become a church in itself.

Its membership is getting to be so enormous, and it is so entirely independent of the church in the matter of supervision and management, as to afford opportunities for a skillful leader to take it out of church and make a new one out of it. Presby-terian ministers—some of them at any rate—say that they can see danger in the Presbyterian Church from the same sources in the Christian Endeavor.

PLEA FOR MATAAFA. Apia's Former Municipal Magistrate

Sends a Brief Here. A special plea for the cause of Mataafa has been received at the embassies in Washington interested in the Samoan question from a rather peculiar source, namely William Cooper, late municipal magistrate of Apia, and a person believed to be a British subject living in Auckland, N. Z.

Mr. Cooper's brief, which is printed, presents not only the law in the case of the kingly succession, but also shows an intimate acquaintance with the people and customs of Samoa. Mr. Cooper regards the situation as one of extreme gravity. He says that the powers have to deal with this dilemma; that if they undertake to enforce the decision of Chief Justice Chambers, seating Tanu, all previous scenes of blood-shed will be eclipsed, while if they fail to enforce the decision the court will be flout-enforce the decision the court will be nouted with impunity.

Mr. Cooper's brief refers to the pledge given by Mataafa upon his return not to interfere in the government, and also to his intimate relations with the German government. He says the present situation is number able and that there must be extensively and that there must be extensively and the treaty in view of sive modifications of the treaty in view of the fact that annexation of the islands by any one of the powers is improbable.

KNEW THE ROPES.

A Lawyer Who Was Not Hunting Litigation Over Land.

From the Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

It's the canny old bird that cannot be caught with the bird lime of litigation. You've probably heard of Lawyer Hackett of Somerset. A little while ago he purchased some land over which there had been a lawsuit for years, until the parties had spent half a dozen times what the land was worth. Hackett knew all about it. Some of the people wondered why he want-

That's what the owner of the adjoining land thought. So he braced himself for trouble when he saw Hackett coming across the fields one day.

Said Hackett: "What's your claim here, anyway, as to this fence?"

"I insist," replied the neighbor, "that your fence is over on my land two feet at one end and one foot at least at the other

"Well," replied Hackett, "you go ahead "Well," replied Hackett, "you go ahead just as quick as you can and set your fence over. At the end where you say that I encroach on you two feet, set the fence onto my land four feet. At the other end push it onto my land two feet."
"But," persisted the neighbor, "that's twice what I claim."
"I don't earn about that," said Healest.

"I don't care about that," said Hackett.
"There's been fight enough over this land.
I want you to take enough so you are per-I want you to take caugh so you are per-fectly satisfied you have got your rights, and then we can get along all pleasantly. Go ahead and help yourself."

The man paused abashed. He had been ready to commence the old struggle tooth and nail. But this move of the new neigh-bor sturned him. Yet he wasn't to be out-done in generality. He looked at the but done in generosity He looked at Hackett.

"'Squire," said he, "that fence ain't going to be moved an inch. I don't want the blamed old land. There warn't nothin' in the fight but the principle of the thing." Now, isn't human nature an interesting

"GOOD LUCK" SALE Of Ladies' Muslin Underwear.

According to announcement made in Sunday's papers, we this a.m. began the monster sale of Underwear, embracing the entire stock of Messrs. Henry Lewis & Co., 68 Wooster st., N. Y., consisting of this season's daintiest and choicest wear. We felt confident that our prices would attract an army of buyers, but were really unprepared for the wild rush we have experienced since the opening of our doors this morning until the present writing. A few have been disappointed through no fault of ours. The demand has exceeded the ability of our receiving department, but we are using strenuous efforts to rapidly fill up the depleted departments and will succeed in serving all comers, as the stock is enormously large and comprehensive. Don't permit the low prices to make you timid in availing yourself of our "New" Credit Way-our terms are any terms you propose.
